The Big Lunch

Host a Big Lunch.

The Big Lunch is a simple idea from the Eden Project, that encourages communities to come together for some friendship, food and fun annually in June. Now in its 15th year, millions of people take part in street parties and community events each year, as part of the Month of Community, an initiative that Care Home Open Week is pleased to have become part of this year.

There are free digital packs available to help organise Big Lunch events, making it a great option for Care Homes.

You can use the invites, posters and social media graphic in the pack to publicise your event and invite the local community to join you. But it needn't be big, or even be lunch! The idea is to simply bring people together - and you could do that with afternoon tea, or nibbles, and use it as a chance to show locals what you do, showcase career opportunities and recruit new volunteers.

There are lots of recipe, decoration and activity ideas to help plan a brilliant Big Lunch on their website. So, sign up for a pack, break out the bunting and plan a Big Lunch this Care Home Open Week!
